I personally do not approve of the government interference with microsoft...in my opinion this company has done nothing but improve the lives of consumers worldwide..we have the right to compete in this country and be innovative..but with the government stepping into the market place and destroying the competition between companies...how do we expect to remain world leaders in anything if we smother ourselves and don't encourage companies to compete among themselves to provide better products how do we expect to remain on top and to encourage our generations coming up to have the desire to be winners....thank you sharon stokes
